

Correction

COLTON - A headline on page 1 of Thursday's Courier-Observer inaccurately portrayed the details contained in the story.

Grace Hawley has announced her candidacy to run for town supervisor. She has not been picked to be her party's candidate in the November election.

The current Republican town councilwoman is expected to square off in a GOP primary against William Swafford, who was named town supervisor earlier this year following the resignation of long-time Supervisor Hank Ford.

We regret the error.