

True Facts

To The Editor:

I have been a resident of the Town of Colton for 72 years and a registered Republican for 54 years. I would like to applaud Sally Murray for her recent letter bringing out true facts concerning "Colton Politics."

Too many falsehoods have been expressed by the "loud minority" and not enough said by the "quiet majority". Because of what has been said in letters, and otherwise, by the "loud minority," I am declaring my Nov. 6 support to Grace Hawley for supervisor, George Wright for assessor, Democrats Kathy Hayes and Joe Zelinski for town board and Tina Regan Miller for assessor.

Our Republican party in the town of Colton seems to be suffering because of the "loud minority." My vote may not make a big difference, but I would hope that many people who have "had the wool pulled over their eyes" for some time now and made to believe falsehoods, will consider how loud that minority group has been, especially with trying to get away with spraying only certain areas for the caterpillar problem and not spending $14,000 which was appropriated for that purpose.

Yes, our neighborhood was conveniently omitted until we became like the "loud minority" and made phone calls to the Deputy Supervisor about it. He sent Council members Grace Hawley and Mary Jane Watson, along with Andrea Malik, to our homes for evaluation.

MaryJane Watson indicated our properties didn't need to be sprayed. It was only through the strong efforts of Grace Hawley, pointing out to MaryJane Watson that there was enough money to spray our properties without exceeding the appropriation, that we finally got our property sprayed. Why were we, in this neighborhood, excluded to begin with?

The caterpillar spraying is just a sample of some of the issues that have not been told accurately. Please consider these facts when you go to vote Nov. 6.

As Sally Murray referred to in her letter, "protesting by the loud minority" does have a negative effect on our wonderful township of Colton.

For Hayes

To The Editor:

Having known Kathryn Hayes for years, I strongly feel that she would be an excellent member of the Colton Town Council.

Kathryn has been very concerned about all the negative things being said in the community and would like to work very hard to change that.

She is a very caring person who is a good listener and sensitive to the needs of others. She relates well to people of all ages.

Kathryn cares deeply about our town and especially its people.

Kathryn Hayes will work for you. Please vote on Election Day.
